

PCS News 12/8/23

Dear PCS Community,

Thank you for another great week this week. Here's a few highlights:

- This week our 4th, 5th and 6th graders were treated to a residency with graphic novel author Marek Bennet - it was truly great!
- Also, our 6th graders spent the day at NEYT today to watch the Lightning Thief after reading the book
- It's been really inspiring to see such great learning happening across our grade levels - to have the chance to listen to students really read for the first time really stood out to me this week
- Our BBall team hosted their first home game yesterday - and while the score wasn't in our favor, watching the team play together was a highlight for sure.

Here is some information heading into the weekend:

Winter Traditions on Morning Announcements:

Every school day, Mr T. and some students create our daily video morning announcements. Through the winter, we would love to feature a segment on winter traditions of our students. So, IF you or your student(s) have a tradition that you engage in this time of year, please feel free to share it with our school community. Have your child connect with their classroom teacher, and we can record a segment to share with our community.

Holiday Bazaar

Our Holiday Bazaar is coming up! Please feel free to still return Bazaar forms to the office.
